Marine Engineers of Hawaii AT BANQUET BOARD Celebrate First Anniversary

The anniversary banquet of Lodge No. 100, Marine Engineers' Association, held at the Hawaiian Hotel Sunday evening was one of the most pleasant gatherings about the banquet board that has ever been held in the city. It proved the captains of the engine rooms to be good fellows, good entertainers and fully alive to the important duties resting upon them as individual factors in commercial progress and as members of one of the strongest organizations of the country.

The banquet table was laid in the large dining hall. It was very tastefully decorated and the menu was all that could be asked. It was about 8 o'clock when the members and their guests filed into the hall. H. J. Platts presided as toastmaster. Flanking him on either side were Judge M. M. Estee and Judge A. S. Humphreys, District Deputy James H. Quinlan, Ernest Kopke, A. W. Keech, C. A. Graham and representatives of the Advertiser and the Bulletin. Members of the order present were as follows: George Drennon, Louis Marks, L. Paulos, C. A. Thompson, W. McCowth, W. G. Stable, George Portie, J. H. Davis, A. Gomes, G. Gardner, J. A. Colbron, D. Bellew, J. Grace, B. Fernbach, J. S. Purdie, J. O. Wilder, John Kelly, E. B. Lee, R. Windrath, M. Kuan, W. J. Donnelly, J. P. Lynch, H. F. Moline, G. Bonner, F. M. King.

When the toastmaster proposed the President of the United States and called on Judge Estee, the Judge made one of his characteristic, brief and pithy responses. It was not an oration but in his quiet conversational manner, the Judge called attention to the high regard which all Americans have for their President. He cited an incident in the life of Lincoln showing his kindly nature. He believed all Presidents were as kind hearted and as thoughtful for honest citizens. He closed with, "Boys, fear God and love your country and you can't go astray."

"The Prosperity of the Territory of Hawaii" was proposed and Judge Humphreys called upon to respond. The Judge opened his remarks by a pleasant reference to Judge Estee and the press. Making a short reference to occasional difficulties met with in our development under new conditions, the Judge expressed his full confidence in the capacity of Hawaii's citizenship to carry successfully all the responsibilities placed upon it as an American community. The people of the Territory were not only capable of properly administering a Territory but they have a right to look forward to the possibilities of the greater honor of Statehood. The Judge said American rights were equal rights. He expressed in positive terms that were greeted with rounds of applause, his lack of sympathy with an element of the community which qualified an American citizen's right to speak and act as a member of the community by length of residence. He believed the honest American who arrived in the Territory with no other possessions than those contained in his grip sack to be as worthy of consideration as the millionaire or those who traced their lineage to the early days when semi-barbarity was in evidence. The future of the Territory rests with its honest American citizens and that future was bright with the promise of sound progress. The Judge's remarks were received with an enthusiasm showing hearty approval of his sentiments.

District Deputy James H. Quinlan made a very happy response to the toast of the association. He traced the growth of the order, its reputation for saying very little about itself but in a quiet, common sense way accomplishing results. Mr. Quinlan counseled his brethren to make unity and friendship their watchword. They might have their differences; he wouldn't give a fig for a man who had no opinion. These differences, however, should not be made public. The front presented to the outside world should be a united front. Mr. Quinlan disclaimed any claims to oratory but the rounds of applause indicated that the calm truths and good, common sense advice he offered were highly appreciated.

One of the happiest incidents of the evening was when Chalmers A. Graham was called upon to respond to the toast "Lodge No. 100." Mr. Graham is always jovial, always good natured. He made a brief response to the subject assigned and turned to the more pleasant duty of presenting District Deputy Quinlan with a magnificent case of silver in behalf of the lodge members. It was a complete surprise to Mr. Quinlan, who made several attempts to respond but couldn't get further than, "Well boys, you've got the best of me this time." There was no doubt of the deep sense of gratitude felt by Mr. Quinlan.

"The Press" was very ably handled by E. M. Boyd of the Advertiser. Ernest Kopke of the Honolulu Iron Works expressed his interest in the men at the throttle and wished the organization well in all its efforts. J. S. Purdie responded for the visiting brethren and J. A. Colbron spoke for the absent ones. A. W. Keech of the Inter-Island Company, expressed his appreciation of the work done by the organization. Secretary Lynch and W. J. Donnelly and the Bulletin representative made a few remarks and the banquet closed with a jovial story from Chalmers A. Graham, an honorary member of the order and to whose good work much of the success of the first anniversary banquet is to be credited.

Washington, May 15.—Vague stories of "bugs" and loopholes in the Chinese exclusion law as recently passed have been circulating around the Capitol and have been published. As nearly as can be learned, the stories emanate from disappointed Democrats of the California commission, who are trying to convince the labor people that all the good qualities in the exclusion bill are due to the Democrats. The truth is that the new law is far better than the old one and absolutely impregnable. In the opinion of such men as Senator Lodge.

"I know of no loopholes in the act," he said today. "To my mind it is a very carefully drawn and well-considered measure. It not only excludes Chinese from the United States, but from the island territory and, if there is any loophole, I don't know where it is."

Rev. George A. Gordon has been pastor for eighteen years of the Old South Church, Boston, the richest Congregational church in America. During the 233 years of the church's existence it has had sixteen ministers.

Third Basemen Should Watch the Base Runners and Batters.

Not only must the third baseman watch the work of the batters, but he must devote considerable attention to the runners and keep a watchful eye on the bases. Many runners are caught napping through the shrewd plying of the men covering the bases. It is customary for players on third to take a deal of leeway and play far off. The third baseman should watch for these plays and sign the catcher for all throws to catch the runner off his base.

A third baseman must pass through a fire of severe criticism, and must have an unusual amount of experience to cover the position satisfactorily. As he faces the hardest kind of hits, it requires skill and courage of no ordinary ability to face the hard drives which are sent in this territory, and unless a young player possesses these attributes it would be better for him to try for a less difficult position.

It is but a short distance from third base to the home plate, and unless the third baseman is watchful a runner may steal home. This especially is the case when the score is close and one run is needed to tie or win the game. All players take desperate chances, but in this case will go to greater extremes than when on first or second bases. Hence it will be readily understood the importance of the third baseman's position. There are some rules, however, that would not apply in every case. All players are seen at their best under unexpected or particularly difficult conditions. While the general rule applies in these cases, it must be left to the discretion of the fielder as to what he should do. To those thoroughly grounded in the principles of the game this is not a very difficult matter, but to those whose experience is limited the solving of a problem of play is at times difficult, but a player should do his best under all conditions. No man can be successful at all times; and should errors result from lack of judgment it should only prove an incentive to the player to do better next time.

ADVICE TO YOUNG BASE-BALL PLAYERS

BY CONNIE MACK,

Manager of the Philadelphia American League Club.

Third Basemen Should Watch the Base Runners and Batters.

STALWARTS STAND FIRM ARE ALMOST CERTAIN OF DEFEATING CUBAN SCHEME

Many Conferences Held and Much Counting of Noses—Threaten to Call Up Many Other Treaties.

Washington, May 16.—The stalwart Republicans in both branches of Congress are narrowly watching the tactics of those in the party who are trying to encompass a tariff amendment under the guise of relief to Cuba. The House stalwarts are taking a quiet poll to see if it will not be possible to force an adjournment in case the Senate should send the bill back with the differential amendment dropped off. The stalwarts believe they can bring about the adjournment if the Senate leaders should try to carry through a reduction tariff in favor of Cuba.

The Senate stalwarts are taking another tack to prevent tariff meddling. They threaten to bring up as amendments to the Cuban bill all other reciprocity schemes, such as are contained in the Jamaica, French and other treaties, and they believe they can force such anti-reciprocity men as Aldrich and Platt to let go the Cuban relief. Aldrich is as bitterly opposed to the reciprocity treaties as any best sugar Senator is opposed to Cuban relief. Western Senators believe if they are forced to bring in these reciprocity treaties as amendments to the Cuban bill President Frye will rule such amendments germane to the bill, and thus the question of a general revision of the tariff will be up. This is precisely what Aldrich and Platt do not want.

President Roosevelt has been consulting a number of Senators as to the situation respecting the Cuban bill. Senator Clapp of Minnesota conferred with the President on this subject this morning. Senator Spooner and others have gone over the matter fully with the President during the last few days. Clapp believes his resolution providing for a commission to investigate the alleged distress in Cuba and furnish relief to whatever class of people is most in need is gaining friends in the Senate. This idea and others have been laid before the President with the hope that they would obtain his partial. If not entire, sanction. It is understood, however, that the President has in no sense changed his views that relief should be granted to Cuba by the straight process of tariff concessions.

Clapp's plans, and that of the Senate, urged by Spooner, do not meet with his favor. He believes Congress will not do its duty if it leaves Cuba in her present condition.

Those Republican Senators who cannot approve of tariff concessions to Cuba are urging upon the President the political phases of the Cuban tariff controversy. They assert that if the question is put to a straight test in the Senate general tariff revision cannot be avoided.

Former Senator Manderson of Nebraska, who has been attorney for two best sugar companies, was before the Senate Committee on Relations with Cuba today. He related details of the cut in sugar at Missouri river points, and said the action of the trust was for the purpose of destroying beet sugar growing. He said that all previous legislation had been an invitation to grow beet sugar; but the proposed concession to Cuba had prevented several factories from being started. He said that farmers were going from the Middle West States to Manitoba, but that the beet sugar growing had arrested this emigration for a time.
